

Help!

Workshop for Parents, Teachers and Community members

Child behavior management across disabilities

- What expectations should I have of my child?
- How can I meet others that are having similar challenges?
- Where can I get support and have my questions answered?

Never Fear! Help is on the way!

- Workshop with Dr. Andrew Egel
- February 23, 2012
- Carlos Vigil Middle School Auditorium
- 4:00-6:00pm

Dr. Egel joined the University of Maryland in 1979. He was hired to develop an on-going research program in the area of autism while training teachers for children and youth with autism spectrum disorders (ASD) and other severe disabilities. Dr. Egel teaches courses in behavior management, autism, and research methodology. His current research interests focus on the development and evaluation of innovative instructional methodologies for use with children with ASD and other severe disabilities.

Questions? Call 367-3321, for more information